

Factors to consider when specifying built-up roof and wall systems

Seminar

This seminar explores the product attributes and technical considerations involved in the specification of built up roof and wall systems, designed and manufactured by Euroclad.

The object of this seminar is to educate and inform architects and specifiers in commercial practice on the make up, composition and usage of built up roof and wall systems.

The presentation is aimed at the entire architectural industry, covering all details which influence the understanding of the products.

The seminar addresses wide interests, ranging from manufacturing, through to aesthetics, cleaning and recycling.

Where there is known to be an excellent RIBA Assessed CPD seminar on a subject, for example, the Council for Aluminium in Building's Module 6, seminar on recycling, then this has been referenced and included in the main seminar.

The Seminar Includes:

- Metal roof and wall systems
- Principles
- Standards
- Materials
- Finishes and manufacture
- Benefits of built up systems.

The programme has a duration of approximately 45 minutes.
