INDUSTRY FIRST FOR HIGH PERFORMANCE SEALANT TAPE MANUFACTURER

Leading sealant manufacturers Premseal are proud to announce a 40-year warranty on their category-redefining high-performance Polyisobutylene sealant.

After changing the butyl strip sealant category with their range of Polyisobutylene (PIB) high-performance strip sealants for the roofing and cladding sectors, UK-based manufacturer Premier Sealant Systems Ltd (Premseal) has pushed the boundaries further by offering a 40-year warranty on the DWR10 sealant tape.

This PIB sealant tape was independently tested and approved to NFRC class A, Technical Bulletin 36.

Due to the high-quality PIB used in Premseal's DWR10 sealant tapes, the tapes have vastly superior adhesion compared to other providers, and combined with its excellent chemical and UV resistance and greater molecular weight and strength, this means the tapes can be guaranteed for almost twice as long as the next best tape on the market.

“After seeing the quality of strip sealants degrade over recent years, we’re glad we can offer a product that brings quality back to the category” says Wayne Beighton, Business Development Manager at Premseal. “This 40-year warranty is great news for our customers because it is a guarantee that can be passed on to their customers.”

Premseal’s PIB sealant tapes, which are specifically designed to create an unbeatable sealant solution in situations such as side and end lap joints, are made exclusively with PIB polymer from a fully refined Naptha stream, meaning the company can guarantee their product with the utmost confidence.

Premseal’s Polyisobutylene (PIB) range of high-performance strip sealants are available direct from the company.
